Special program students commensurate with their outstanding scientific

Dr. Ahmed Ibrahim: We seek to maintain excellence and support to achieve the best output

Dr. Ahmed Ibrahim, director of the academic excellence that this first program of its kind in the region aimed at maintaining high educational levels to outstanding students and make them more capable of innovation and competition by choosing a set of decisions studied by various qualified teachers, "said Dr Ahmad said that this program is open to Students with high rates in high school over 90% and a 24-credit hours a student of the same approach but the method of teaching into account the student's ability and level of scientific capacity and the chapters are less than regular classes to provide the right atmosphere for students, the goal is to achieve excellent output capable to serve the labor market to the highest standards required, since the presence of a complete separation of the outstanding students make the competition stiffer

Dr Ahmad Ibrahim added that this program will bring outstanding students for their desire to join later distinguished universities, said that one of the features of the University of Qatar as a comprehensive university with many programs and disciplines, which makes obtaining a large number of outstanding students is possible irrespective of their specialization, this program open to all, without exception, outstanding and is devoted to the selection of each semester to students enrolled in the program ends Alchrisat eight by the end of their stage university The university wants the continuation of this program the student excellence in academic excellence in a Macisaadh graduate studies later, educational institutions and organizations concerned with employment record of scientific the student to that tangible evidence of the seriousness.

The director of the Academic Excellence Program Acceptance of the start of the program two weeks ago has made a lot of students program started with the first decision Chrisath dumping of mass communication and art, the nature of the program is concerned with the decisions of the Assembly be comprehensive and interfaces such as the way of writing research, and methods of scientific thinking and methods of dialogue and discussion, There is interest in both Arabic and English The program is bilingual, it is important to adapt the student with the language, had been baptized organizers of the program to the innovative way of reducing the academic burden on professors who take teaching in the program instead of rewarding them financially and this is reflected positively on the performance of scientific research, few of the quotas means more emphasis in the curriculum which is turning at the end of the day to excellence desired outputs.

The program offers 25 students a distinguished record of them so far in the course 4 students as they continue to study. He praised Dr. Ahmed Ibrahim, director of the program substantial support given by the university administration for this important program.
